

Rights and Responsibilities of Students with Disabilities

Students:

- Are entitled to equal access to participation in, or the benefits of, any program or activity operated by the College.
- Must meet the College's admission standards as outlined in the current catalog.
- Must, in a timely manner, self-identify as a student with a disability seeking reasonable accommodations, academic adjustments, and/or auxiliary aids and, when requested, provide written documentation from a licensed professional.
- To rescind in writing at any time written permission given to the Disability Resources and Services Coordinator to acquire or share confidential information.
- To provide course instructors the letter from the Disability Resources and Services Coordinator which outlines approved accommodations, academic adjustments, and/or auxiliary aids.
- To appeal in written form any request for accommodations, academic adjustments, and/or auxiliary aids denied by the DRS Coordinator.
- To notify the DRS Coordinator should any problems with requested and approved accommodations, academic adjustments, and/or auxiliary aids arise during the semester.
- To expect that no employee or representative of the College engages in retaliatory conduct against a student who exercises his/her rights under the ADA/ADAAA.
- To report any such retaliatory conduct to the Vice-President of Instruction and Student Affairs who will then conduct an investigation.
